But when in use, open drawers look like any other piece of internal hardware and can detract from the beauty of the front of the units. Blum has addressed this by introducing 'Tandembox Intivo' drawers, which can incorporate customised side panels (and front panels for internal pull-outs). This gives kitchen manufacturers the ability to co-ordinate the sides with the fronts, or provide contrasting colours, or even special effects and finishes such as stone or leather. To find your nearest retailer, ring Blum on 01908 285700, or visit blum.com. 7 This 'Rectory' kitchen from Christopher Peters is one of the company's many genuinely bespoke designs, which range from the pure 'below stairs' look to contemporary designs in corrugated tin.
